July Sale of Furniture!

CAN'T EXPECT THESE PRICES LATER ON

The booming of cannons and other noises that accompany the early days of July are things we look for, but news like this is entirely out of the ordinary. And extraordinary, too, are the prices which we quote that hover around the cost mark. Considering that July is not a usual sales month this news is the more sensational.

Here Are a Few Bargains!

Large Flat Arm Rattan Rockers, $1.75
Other Rockers, $2.25, $2.50 and $3.25

Carried It In His Head.
When four years old Mozart played minuets and learned music with facility, and at the age of six he composed a concerto for the harpsichord, which, though written strictly in accordance with the principles and technique of his art, was yet so overloaded with difficulties that it could not be played.

It is related that Mozart once happened to put off some music that he had been engaged to furnish for a court concert so long that he had not time to write out the part which he himself was to perform.

The Emperor Joseph, who was of a curious turn, chanced to be in the composer's studio when he asked: "Where is your part?" I do not see it among these sheets of music."

"Here," responded Mozart, touching his forehead.—St. Louis Republic.

Fatalism Exemplified.
She—I hope, dear, that you are not going to worry about my exceeding my allowance this time.

CONFECTIONERY.

The Sugar Plum is the Most Ancient Kind of Sweetmeat.

The most ancient kind of sweetmeat is the sugar plum. It was the invention of Julius Dragatus, a noted Roman baker and confectioner, who belonged to the family of Fabius. According to an authority on ancient history, it was in 177 B. C. that he made the great discovery which for twenty centuries has done so much damage to teeth.

These bonbons, called dragats, after their inventor (dragates in French), remained the exclusive privilege of the family of Fabius. But at the birth or marriage of one of that family a great distribution of dragat took place as a sign of rejoicing. The custom is still observed by many of the nobility of Europe.

Burned almonds are purely of French origin, owing their inception to the gluttony of a certain French merchant. One day Marshal Duplessis-Pralin, an old gourmet, sent for Lassagne, who had already invented many a toothsome dainty, to concoct a new bonbon for him. Lassagne searched, reflected, combined, until finally he conceived a delicious bonbon, which he baptised gloriously after the name of his master, praline, the French for burned almonds.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Personality of Labor.

The notion is quite too prevalent that the workingman is primarily an "economic problem"; that he ought to realize this and conduct himself with mechanical regularity and impersonal uniformity as a fractional unit of labor power. We shall never make any headway under that doctrine. The workingman is first of all a human being. The purchase of his labor is only in a limited sense to be compared to the purchase of a commodity and cannot be treated in the same way. As Dr. Abbott has suggested, in the sale of sugar or flour the personal relation of mutual confidence need enter only once—at the time of the exchange—but where you are buying labor the laborer goes with the labor, and the personal relation of confidence and responsibility must be there all the time, from day to day and week to week, or the method is cheated. Therefore, whatever method of getting along together is adopted, it must count with personal qualities as an essential part of the relation.—Hayes Robbins in Atlantic.

Royal Arcanum and Union Label.

A question which caused considerable discussion at the national convention of the Royal Arcanum held recently in Boston was that of placing the union label of the printers upon the printed matter of the order. The resolution requiring the use of the label was finally killed at the last day's session. The only reason assigned is that the organization, which does its own printing in Boston, employs both union and nonunion men, running an open shop, and it was deemed advisable not to show favoritism to either side.

Plan to Break Strikes.

As one means of breaking a strike, it is said, certain employers and manufacturers in some of the middle western states have entered into a pact. That is, the parties to the agreement will decline to employ workmen from factories where a strike is on, nor will they hire workmen from other employers' places of business at an advance in salary unless the applicant possesses a clearance card from his former employer.

LABOR NOTES.

President Michael J. Donnelly of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union has retired owing to ill health. Edward W. Potter, first vice president, has become the executive.

P. H. Morrissey has been elected grand master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Boston Barbers' union has reached the point of second in size in the country.

A general increase averaging about 7 per cent on all schedules has been granted by the Boston and Maine railroad to its car working department men.

The pay of the laborers of the city of Boston will be increased from $2 to $2.25 on July 1.

The International Union of Horse-shoers of the United States and Canada was organized in 1873.

More attention is to be given southern states by the American Federation of Labor, which is planning to hold a stronger labor movement in that section of the country.
